

To our valued customers,

Until further notice Best Supermarket is asking customers to respect our request of having the opening hour 8-9 a.m. (Monday-Saturday, excluding Sundays), reserved for those shoppers who are at a higher risk of severe illness from the COVID=19, which includes older adults (over 60) and those who have compromised immune systems. We are trying to designate this time to give these customers a time to get their essentials, which will better enable social distancing.

If you are an at risk person and do not want to come into the store, please call the store and we will make arrangements to get your items for you. We have also had several young, healthy, people offer to lend help to anyone who may need assistance getting their groceries to them.

Sincerely,

Best Super Market

To our Valued Customers,

The short term spike in demand for some grocery items, has caused a short term imbalance in the supply of grocery items. The warehouses, manufacturers, transportation, and stores are trying to play catch up from the current short term spike in demand. This catch up is being caused and hindered by the ongoing Covid-19 problem.

Because of the short term supply of many grocery items, and time and effort needed to focus on health measures, we will unfortunately need to suspend the current ad program for a short period of time.

However, we still do plan on running many items on sale in store, items which we can be assured of adequate supply. We also plan on continuing to run our daily Value Buy products.

We anticipate this is to be a very short term change. This change will continue until we are confident that the grocery supply has stabilized and we can also be assured the supply we have come to expect and deserve.

With patience and willingness to work together we will get through this tough period.

Thank you for your continued support,
Best Supermarket
